Enforce regulations concerning Emergency No Parking signs

Resolved, that ANC1D advises the District Department of Transportation, Public Space Branch, to compel District contractors to comply with current regulations for no-parking signs.

Why: The Parking Amendment Act of 2006 imposed a requirement that temporary no-parking signs contain certain information, according to the following revision to Title 18 of the DC Municipal Regulations:

2407.25. Signs prohibiting or reserving parking shall be consistent with the design approved by the Director and shall display the following:

- (a) Sign number;
- (b) Name of the issuing agency;
- (c) Contact name and telephone number;
- (d) Duration of the parking reservation or prohibition;
- (e) Hours of the parking reservation or prohibition;
- (f) Specific person or entity permitted to park in the location, if applicable; and
- (g) Such other information as is required by the Director.

The agency name and contact name and number are especially important to residents confronted with such no-parking signs, offering some explanation for the parking restrictions, and contact information should a resident be especially inconvenienced.

This legislation became District law in November, 2006, and new no-parking placards are now available that provide for the required information. Unfortunately, some District contractors are ignoring the new placards, and ignoring the law, evidently with impunity. Attached to this resolution are examples of current no-parking placards put up by District contractors, one in compliance with the law, the other not. Clearly there is no excuse at this time for allowing District contractors to ignore this law, now on the books for almost four years.
